Comments:

Well done Kabeer, you have completed this project to a satisfactory standard. The work submitted meets all the assessment criteria and is of a satisfactory standard. You have worked well as the lead member of your ensemble create catchy songs and perform the compositions to a very high standard.

Context - You have provided limited context in your introduction but do state what you hope to achieve. but did not explain the importance of composition within the music industry. You clearly understand the process of composition through the practical work you completed.

Research - You gave some brief analysis of compositions but they are lacking depth. You did some primary research creating samples for your electronic composition. There is no documentation of all the music theory work you completed around the circle of fifths and songwriting. You need a more consistent approach to research to achieve a higher grade. You also should demonstrate how your research is applied to your work.

Practical Skills - You have shown how your skills have developed in the ensemble composition through videos and a brief commentary. You have shown that you are a very capable songwriter and have developed your skills on Logic. Your weakest area was reading and creating scores as well as using Sibelius – you should keep practicing this. Your final performance of your compositions was excellent and the audience was extremely impressed. You worked well with other members of the group and communicated well throughout the project.

Evaluation and Reflection - You have evaluated each composition through videos. I like your videos but make sure that they are concise and make relevant points. You need to include ongoing evaluations to achieve a higher grade.

Overall, there is a good range of work on display for the final compositions but your portfolio is let down by the lack of practical evidence for the development stages of all compositions as well as detailed and ongoing research and evaluation. Despite finding the use of Sibelius challenging, you did not give up and your final score is a good attempt at composing for moving image. Songwriting and performing was a highlight of this project for you and could possibly be an area to explore in the future. You are clearly capable of better grade with more organisation and an improvement in documenting work.
