

Reflection

What went well

I succeeded in the comedy aspect of my mockumentary I believe it had enough jokes in as well as enough serious talks about gaming communities to not make it just jokes. I also believe our performance under the camera was pretty good as we did not falter in any of our takes.

What could have gone better

The camera work itself could have gone better I should have used a tripod or phone mount to keep the camera still. I could have also chosen a better location for it but that was also my fault for not planning out the location better. I should have also used a better microphone as the audio is a bit too quiet.

overall

Overall it didn't come out too bad but could have gone better the main things I would change next time is planning location and equipment better. This would have made it feel better and more like a mockumentary not just a bunch of jokes thrown in with talks about gaming communities.
