

SCRIPT:

Presenter: Welcome to Insert Show Name!

Presenter: Oh, have we got some things coming up for you tonight. We'll be giving you the inside scoop on what films are coming out, what you should to book or book it. As well as some amazing local filmmakers coming on to share with us their latest creative visions.

Presenter: For our film section, we have some interesting additions to our cinemas. The obvious one being Dune 2, and the social media firestorm it's created with that suspicious looking bucket chuckle

Presenter: The new instalment to the adaptation of Frank Herbert's novels, by visionary director Denis Villeneuve, promises to carry on the legacy of both the first movie and the books. And let me tell you, it does that and much more! Even though it was delayed due to the SAG-AFTRA strikes, it was worth the wait. This film is definitely on my "To Book" list to see again.

Presenter: Next, we are checking out something a bit closer to Earth, but a bit further into a more fantastical past, with the recent limited showing of Demon Slayer: Kimetsu No Yaiba – HASHIRA TRAINING ARC for one day and one day only. It was a special anime adaption of the manga arc, of which it gets its name, to bridge the gap between seasons of the hit anime. As a personal fan of the series, I was super excited to see it and I hope it becomes available to see again when the new series comes out in Mid to Late Spring this year! Here is a bit of the trailer just in case you missed it:

[PLAY DS VT]

Presenter: Going on the theme of things that go bump in the night, another film on the big screen recently is "Imaginary" by Jeff Wadlow. This horror/thriller film centres around a child's imaginary friend who is left behind, and it's not a fan of that. I've not been able to see it, but from the trailer and talk about it, we here at INSERT SHOW NAME HERE are going to have to mark this one as "Book It Away". But we'll leave you with the trailer to decide on your own, if it's your type of film.

[PLAY IMAGINARY VT]

Presenter: That's all from "To Book or Book It!". Now we are moving onto our next segment, "Local Talent" where we talk to local and aspiring filmmakers who are out there producing things with the hope of getting onto our screens soon. We thought we'd help them get onto your screens that bit quicker!

Presenter: Without any more wait, let's bring on INSERT STUDENT NAMES HERE

INTERVIEW

Presenter: And have we got a few clips of your latest production to show to the viewers at home today?

Student 1: Yeah, of course.

Presenter: Great. For your enjoyment INSERT PRODUCTION NAME HERE

[1ST STUDENT VT]

Presenter: Amazing work, what did you think of it INSERT STUDENT 2 NAME

STUDENT 2 INTERVIEW

Presenter: And can we show some of your work as well?

Student 2: Go ahead!

Presenter: Once again, for your enjoyment INSERT PRODUCTION NAME HERE

[PLAY STUDENT 2 VT]

SMALL INTREVIEW WITH BOTH STUDENTS ABOUT THE FILMS AND THE CURRENT FILM INDUSTRY

Presenter: Now time for a quick break, so please enjoy these skits our film crew made just for you!

[PLAY SKITS]