Analysis-

Skyfall – this title sequence inspires me as they used a variety of footage. Each footage is different from one another. It makes this title sequence different from the others as it is shown in very slow motion and as well as this, they used very dull colours for the background then they insert a bright red. Throughout the video it is very dull and towards the middle they insert bright colours is very inspiring and makes it very attractive. The way James bond the main actor is introduced is a different way and unique way, seeing them introduced. As well as this, how the footage is shown and how the camera rotates and tilts when the actor is falling is very enthusiastic and makes the audience want to watch it.
