

Foodbank Documentary Update

1 SEPT' 2022

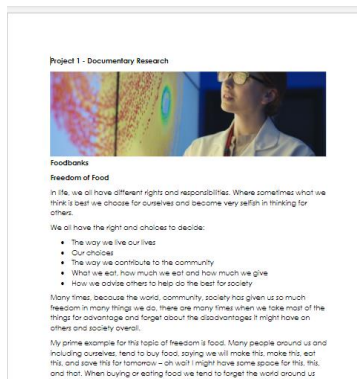

I started doing research on documentaries and started generating ideas. I wanted something to be interesting, engaging, sending a happy message as most of documentaries get very intense or sad which makes me as audience very uncomfortable so I wanted to make it for the people like me who find documentaries not appealing or not the first thing we would want to watch on a weekend.

These are some mind maps I made for my documentary around the topics that make me very much interested in documentaries and which I think my audience would be interested in as well.

13 SEPT' 2022

Today I have been doing research about foodbanks in general. In Bradford and what is the aim of them doing this and what inspired them. Hoping to get more research done. I have also been emailing foodbanks to see if I get permission granted to be able to interview them.

17 SEPT' 2022

Today I started making mood boards for my project to be able to visualize my project and get ideas to where they will be linking into. So, when exploring what other topics I could approach for example, others wellbeing, mental health and confidence levels.

7 OCT' 2022

I finished writing up my proposal for this project. It was easy as I had it all visualized but difficult to write it on paper. Under the headings that were given. So, to be able to write it all down I need to get another paper to note everything out my head to be able to transfer it for my proposal.

PROPOSAL – For Documentary 2022 1000-2000 words
Title:
Logline: Learn to think about others.
Summary:
Observational Documentary
Length of work: Hopefully I hope to make it a 5-minute documentary. If for any reason I can make it a minute or two longer, so, between 5-10 minutes.
Who is the intended audience?
The intended audience of my documentary is the next generation so people around 13-20 years old. The age range I want to produce it to is those who will be progressive and are going to be the future for the next coming generations, where they will be able to teach them the things we are learning now. The generation that will be passionate about in making something work when they know what they are talking about and what they hoping to get at the end of it, overall turn-out. This age range, when we all between this age we tend to become mature and taking everything into consideration with maturity, knowledge, research and general logic. This age you know what sources to turn to, where to get help from and of this age we become connected to most of all age ranges so able to communicate a message faster than the younger or older generations.

I want to make a good storyline where it's not all so much to take it, but a smooth flow where they start understanding, the problem right now and how we struggling as a nation. The new generation, as I want to involve them in the issues the world is facing now and how we

I have started writing my pre-production presentation document. In this I need to provide my visualized plan and tell how it will start, what will the drama be and what message my audience is going to leave with.

PowerPoint Pre-Production

Story Arc

SETUP - BEGINNING

Introduction (Hook)

In the introduction, I'm going to involve food in general in my documentary. The reason to this is because there is no one who does not have interest in food. There are some who love food, some who love to cook food, some like to try different traditional foods, some are too hungry and just want food, some who love desserts, and they are different type of food eaters. By adding food in the 1st minute of my documentary it will involve mostly everyone. Food is the one thing in the world that involves everyone.

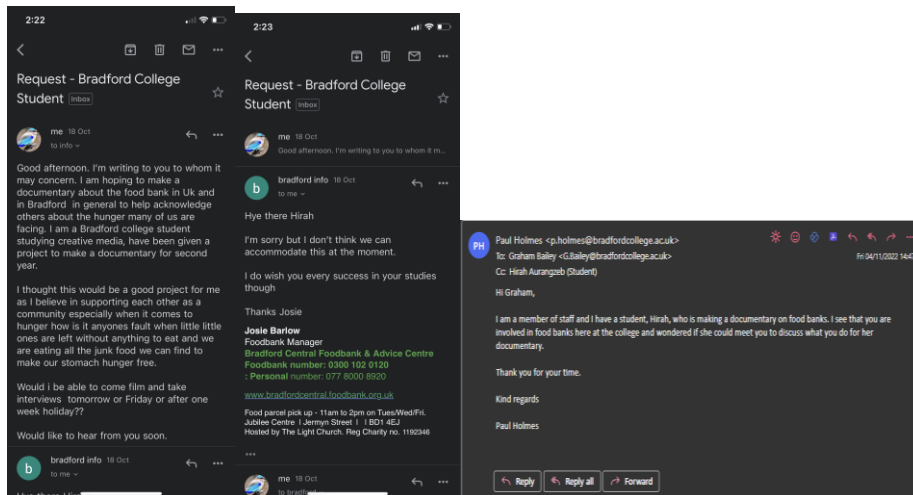

The Reason why everyone is involved when the topic is about food is because we need all the food to live, we are all hungry human beings, we may all have different favorite foods, different tastebuds, but FOOD IS FOOD, WHEN THE STOMACH IS HUNGRY, ANY PEOPLE WILL EAT THEIR FOOD ROUTINES TO BE ABLE TO STILL NOT WAIT LIKE.

For example, a person who is trying to lose weight, will tend to look at diet foods, but if she/he is an experimenter she/he will try making her/his favorite food with less calories and oils.

I will make sure this is finished as without this I'm unable to go forward as this helps with making a structure for my documentary.

04 NOV' 2022

Due to receiving denials from all the foodbanks I have contacted in the last few days; it has made me rush down and back away from my plan and my passion is still there, but I can't visualize what my end project is going to look like, I'm still ready to pick up the risk to try something new.

Because of denial from other foodbanks. With Paul I found the foodbank in Bradford college. Where it is controlled by student union. The head of this food bank is called Graham Bailey. He has stated some good things in the article.

<https://www.bradfordcollege.ac.uk/news/communities-given-a-helping-hand-news/>

He has stated that has already has 2000 foodbank items delivered. 200 other colleges have joined, which is a good thing for those people who are vulnerable but for the reputation of Bradford college. With Christmas coming round the corner, they have a mission to be able to help and feed many vulnerable kids this Christmas.

The activity is part of Bradford College's commitment to the 'Good for Me, Good for FE' national initiative. This foodbank is helping with the mental health and the wellbeing's of students, staff and others. The benefit I have got from finding the foodbank in my college is that I would be able to help promote it for my college to other people around us that are unaware of it. There are a few things I would like to ask Graham Bailey is that I want to ask him what inspired him, who helped him and is there a personal story or incentive behind this.

With now with knowing where the location is I will be able to crack on with the rest of my work as I know the location, I just need to contact Graham asap and be able to get the time when he is free so I can continue with getting some footage now. Now I need to make a checklist with a calendar with the things I am behind on to be able to catch up to be able to get to post-production soon. For the next 2 weeks.

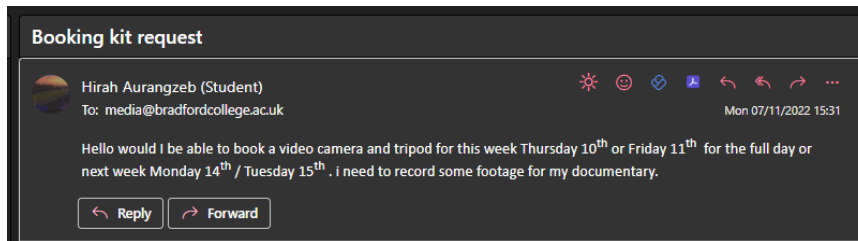

Things to do:

- Explore Pixel by for footage
- Look for some additional Achieve footage
- Create loads of B-roll's around people, Bradford, college, food is the main one.

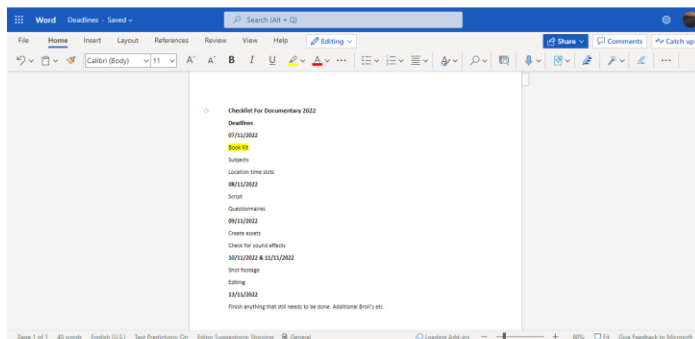

07 NOV' 2022

So, I am going today to create some checklists and deadlines for myself as I am behind. I have booked out a kit waiting for a reply from central media as I want to be able to get some B-roll's to be able to start editing the footage with interviewing Graham later, I will be able to somehow attach the audio with the footage being how it is.

Today and tomorrow, I am hopefully trying to get all the written documents done so I can focus on the Production and Post-Production later. Giving that my 100% concentration. I believe that before our deadline, which is 25 NOV' 2022, I should be able to get this project done.

I have now created a deadline checklist so I can make sure I am on track and not falling behind before the major deadline which is for the 25 NOV' 2022.

I conducted a survey to be able to know how much my class knows and what information I should include in my documentary to make it educational for them.

08 NOV' 2022

I haven't completed my Pre-production schedule and will be re-checked before going for production. I am still waiting for a reply from Graham Bailey, the head of Bradford College Foodbank, to be able to interview him. However, the good news Central Media has got back to me, and I have officially booked the equipment for Thursday and Friday.
