

Final Major Project_

It's not that intense, here is my ideas.

THIS IS

BRADFORD

”This is Bradford” – a Documentary

Documentary about Bradford. Talking about how the city has got a lot more violent and less pleasant to live in then how it used to be in the old days. I would also touch on Bradford winning city of culture 2025 and what that means for the city. I would end with discussing the potential Bradford has and what I would do to make it better.

While this idea is interesting, I’m looking for something more creative and fun. On the other hand, I feel like this is quite a fresh idea because it hasn’t been done before and I think I could write it in a way which makes it very funny in a unique way.

Adolescence

“Adolescence” – a Short Film

Adolescence is a short film I've been thinking about for a while, but finally telling people instead of having it just bounce round my brain.

The idea is simple, but when executed I think it would be a really interesting concept. The film follows two people: An extraverted boy and an introverted girl. It will show them in the same situations such as morning routines, going to work/school, meeting friends, etc. This will show how because of their personalities and social abilities their lives are vastly different.

I think this is a much stronger idea as it is more creative. I do think it would take a lot more effort to complete which will be a fun challenge.

I decided to pick “Adolescence” as I wanted to be more creative and felt quite limited writing a documentary.

What will I need for this project?

I would need the following:

- 1 Camera with Microphone attached.
- A cast. (2 Main actors and extras)

Collaborations.

These are the collaborations associated with the film:

- Actors and Extras.
- Some people from the course such as Leon and Meher.

Research.

While researching different films, I watched a production of Grease at my old secondary school. This turned out to be a good example of my film as the film is very much based on opposites-attract as Sandy is seen as a "Good Girl" and Danny is seen as more of "Bad Boy" which is very similar to my idea of introverted girl and extroverted boy.

The actress who played Jan in this production (Phoebe Grimes) will also be playing one of the lead roles in the film.

According to secondary research Romantic Comedy or RomCom is the 7th most popular movie genre, so I will be trying to make it more comedic in parts while still maintaining the plot and keeping the story going.

I need to be able to write a compelling script which is also comedic in places. I think this is the best way to write it because if not I think it would be too serious and less enjoyable to watch.

I need to be used to working with cameras so I get the right angles and others. I also need to get comfortable with image stabilization or with a tripod therefore the shot isn't shaky which would make the film seem less professional.

I will be editing with Adobe Premier Pro which I need to get used to using so I can maximize my use of the software and take advantage of its features so I can make my film the best it can be.

Context.

I would place the film in the Romance genre as it is about 2 unlikely people meet each other. According to my secondary research Romance/RomComs is most watched by 40-50 year olds. Although, my film will be more modern therefore I think it will be viewed by more 18-30 year olds aswell. I am aiming for a high quality film even with a low budget, which will be a difficult challenge but I think would mean more that a production of that high quality was shot on a low budget.

Locations.

I am going to need several different locations for the shoots.
