

Movie review for Oppenheimer

Oppeneheimer is my favorite movie because the movie is able to tell the story of J. Robert Oppenheimer which makes the audience immersed in the film.

I like how in the film whenever the movie cuts to the perspective of Oppenheimer himself the movie is in color but when the movie cuts to the perspective of someone else the movie is in black and white.

I like how when it comes to the editing of the film that Christopher Nolan used more practical effects rather than using CGI for I believe that being more practical rather than using CGI can immerse the actors in the experience rather than using green screen like how Christopher Nolan tried to recreate real life explosions.

The movie was also shot in Imax cameras for audiences to have a better experience seeing this film in Imax.

I like the sound editing that is being used for the film for the music can calm but be more intense. It's not just the music for it could be noise for there are times when in the film when Oppenheimer is in an intense situation there will be noise of people's feet stomping the ground.

<https://youtu.be/4JZ-o3iAJv4?si=K-3RfJnSTnsS9gfo>

<https://youtu.be/td8mrZclxQ0?si=kzdD-LyDuVZcxgbQ>

